

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

WORTHY OF CONFIDENCE.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kind, and cannot be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight and inferior brands.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

It is a fact that the Royal Baking Powder is the only one that is absolutely pure.

BROTHER GARDNER.

Some Short Summer Sermons by the Sage of the Limekin Club.

A lawyer will work harder to break the law than to enforce it.

It is easier to govern a state than to boss a Sunday school picnic.

De man who gives you thirteen cents for a shilling will borrow your tea and coffee and pay nothing back.

A photographer doesn't show de deviltry in his eyes nor de pimples on a woman's face.

De mo' good clothes you kin keep on your back de less your bad grammar will be commented on.

De aim of de philanthropist am not to preserve de good eggs, but to work de bad ones over an' palm 'em up agin.

De room which a man takes up on de sidewalk is no criterion to judge of de amount of brains in his head.

You can't hear de jingle of gold pieces half as far as you kin hear de rattle of the law.

De man who announces his own honesty sometimes gets into Canada wid de hoodle, and sometimes he ara caught in Detroit or Buffalo.

Let two life-long friends begin a discussion as to de color of Adam's hair or de size of Noah's head an' de chances for a row is fast class.

What men don't know am what they refuse to let go of.

Sift down de talk of de world's greatest men an' when you come to extract de history, egotism, prejudice and self interest, you will have to look fur de quotient wid a spy-glass.

When a man sots out to be purty he mustn't blame his hatter for any shrinkage of de head.

De boss of de cranial has got to contract.

Don't worry ober de theory of transmigration. When you am turned into an old white hoes an' set to work grindin' bark in a tannery it will be time to complain because you wasn't turned into a tanner instead.

Luv am a beautiful sentiment, an' de game of three-keerd monte am a swindle, but fifty people are downed by de bluffery one swindled by de keerrits.

Industry am a rack in which dar am always a peg to hang up one mo' workin'-man's coat.

When you come to let de gas out of a balloon you am surprised an' disgusted at de shrinkage.

One-half de great men expect deir speeches to be read by posterity an' deir debts to be paid by deir children.—Detroit Free Press.

Sweets for the Sweet.

When a young lady says she means that she has two beaux to her string.

Alaska women cure habies of crying by taking them to de sea shore and holding them in water until they are silent.

The young lady who can peel a potato in five seconds is as useful as de young woman who speaks five languages is ornamental.

The principal beauty of de Mormon religion is that de same woman doesn't have to get up de entire winter to build de kitchen fire.

A woman that takes all de fashion magazines generally goes to a dressmaker to learn what is new in de fashions and never makes her own dresses.

Many women think they are domestic if they stay at home to entertain company, while their husbands think they are as little domestic at home as abroad.

An old widower says: When you do it with a lady, do it with a kind of laugh, as if you were joking. If she accepts you, very good; if she does not, you could say you were only in fun.

"I thought, Miss S., that you had a thirty minix; yet you have not even kissed her."

"Oh, she is a lady, do I hate her, and that is why I did it. Look at de freckles on her chin where I kissed de powder off."

"Which side of de street do you live on, Mrs. Kipple?" asked a counsel, cross-examining a witness.

"Oh, either side, sir; if you go one way it's on de right side; if you go de other way it's on de left."

"If ye plaze, mum, de cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

"De cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

"De cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

"De cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

"De cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

"De cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

"De cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

"De cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

"De cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

"De cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

"De cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

"De cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

"De cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

"De cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

"De cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

"De cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

"De cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

"De cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

"De cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

"De cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

"De cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

"De cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

"De cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

"De cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

"De cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

"De cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

"De cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

"De cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

"De cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

"De cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

"De cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

"De cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

"De cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

"De cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

"De cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

"De cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

"De cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

"De cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

"De cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

"De cook has boomed her hand an' axes to be let out to work."

Three of them were killed, their bodies buried under the tent.

After the officers set had got the well seasoned stew disposed of, the little puppy remaining alive was left at the office.

The officers then began to investigate the whining at the office and found the little fellow with a card to his neck upon which was inscribed:

"You have eaten my three brothers; now eat me. (Signed) JEFF DAVIS."

In the expressive language of the colored gentleman, there was a commotion in the kitchen.

The puppies' heads were discovered—and we draw a veil over the scene that followed.

A puppy's whine, bark or even a howl, was altogether too suggestive for a long time after.

The boys' stews were not confiscated any more.

The disagreeable results of the affair were entirely the effects of the imagination, as the stew which the officers consumed was entirely composed of good chickens and pigs.

Saw Some Snakes.

As the afternoon train on the Florida Transit way was crowded up to a water tank where it crook down out of a dreary cypress swamp and crosses the way, a hunter in high boots and corduroy coat, with a huge bow swung to his broad shoulder, climbed out of the car.

He boarded the principal passenger car. It was Prof. James Bell, the Smithsonian Institution agent. The train was full of people who for three hours had admired the insouciant babble of two guileless and agents. They had learned from these truthful real estate missionaries that alligators were as harmless as geese, and there were fewer snakes by far in Florida than in New York City or Philadelphia.

The professor found the one vacant seat and flung himself into it.

"Good afternoon, professor," said an acquaintance, the further end of the carried out to him; "do you have any luck catching snakes these days?"

And within five minutes Mr. Bell was answering questions from nearly every occupant of the car. Were there really any snakes in Florida?

Was it safe to go through the woods? How big did the snakes grow in this state? What sort of snakes are common here? etc. Very graciously the professor answered them all and soon had betrayed himself into a dissertation upon reptiles generally, till in an absent way, he illustrated a point.

Unbuttoned a capacious pocket in the skirt of his coat and drew out an enormous and newly caught "coach-whip," which he exhibited to a group of staring and excited people.

His habits and peculiarities were described and he laid his subject on the seat and from another pocket drew out a number of chickens of various kinds. Would they bite? No, indeed; they were harmless. They looked kind of "crawly," they were so small.

He replaced them and unstrapped his game bag. "Here we have," he said, "a beautiful snake naturally tame and perfectly harmless, which anybody can play with." And he drew out what was probably the Florida snake ever caught in Florida—nearly eight feet long.

There was a chorus of screams, and women and children, men even, fled to the further end of the car. During the rest of the trip the professor, seated alone, and when at Gainesville he arose to leave the train little girls hid themselves behind their mamma's and screamed with fright.

Learning a Trade.

It is not uncommon for a mechanic to allude to the period during which he served his apprenticeship as "the time when I was in the mill."

"I was in the mill," he said, "but how many mechanics are there who can truly say that they did learn their trade during that time? Very few. It is presumed as if a man were in the mill, he would learn it. But in my school-days as the time when he obtained his education. The man who does not learn more in a corresponding space of time following the time of study, than he did during instruction, than he did during that course, is a person of very small capabilities. The course of study, whether in books or tools, that one pursues to fit him for his profession, should be like the foundation of a house which is laid to support and strengthen the superstructure, and the more thoroughly the foundation is laid the better the superstructure will be.

As in every other walk in life, some who learn nothing and forget nothing; but they are not the persons who advance the business interests of the community. In every branch of trade styles are constantly changing and improvements making and the craftsman who is not prepared to meet and stand up to the changes, will be speedily found himself in the rear—"left."

What is termed "learning a trade" is merely a course of study that teaches one how to learn. Just as a piece of the alphabet is a key to the knowledge of the trade, alphabet is a key to all knowledge.—Budget.

Thought the Fighting Bad Begun.

One hundred anarchists were drilling in an up-town hall.

"Attention! Carry arms! Forward, march!"

"Bang! bang! ziss!"

Seventy-five men dashed for the door and tumbled over each other down stairs, ten jumped out of the third-story window, eight fainted, six fell on their knees and commenced praying, and one manly foreign substance in the ear it will come away with the cornucopia.

London Society.

The dust bath is to the foot what the wash bowl is to the individual. With dust bath the hen cleans her body. She uses it also for exercise. When a hen is in a dust bath she comes off as regularly to dust herself as to feed, instinct teaching her that it is the best of methods for ridding herself of lice.

The first printing done in America was in the city of Mexico, in 1539. There were then 200 printing presses in Europe. The second printing was set up in Lima, Peru, and the third in Cambridge, Mass., in 1639.

An ordinary beetle can draw twenty times the weight of the body and a large horned beetle, which was carefully weighed and allowed to work unmolested beneath a bell glass, drew 42-2-10 times its own weight.

Silence being good for the wise, how much better for the foolish.

Four puppies had been procured.

The Coming Girl.

The coming girl will cook her own food, will earn her own living and will not let an old maid.

The coming girl will not wear the Grecian bend, dance german, ignore all the best tests and beguile her way to work, will not endeavor to break the hearts of unsophisticated young men, will spell correctly, understand English before she affects French.

"You have eaten my three brothers; now eat me. (Signed) JEFF DAVIS."

In the expressive language of the colored gentleman, there was a commotion in the kitchen.

The puppies' heads were discovered—and we draw a veil over the scene that followed.

A puppy's whine, bark or even a howl, was altogether too suggestive for a long time after.

The boys' stews were not confiscated any more.

The disagreeable results of the affair were entirely the effects of the imagination, as the stew which the officers consumed was entirely composed of good chickens and pigs.

Saw Some Snakes.

As the afternoon train on the Florida Transit way was crowded up to a water tank where it crook down out of a dreary cypress swamp and crosses the way, a hunter in high boots and corduroy coat, with a huge bow swung to his broad shoulder, climbed out of the car.

He boarded the principal passenger car. It was Prof. James Bell, the Smithsonian Institution agent. The train was full of people who for three hours had admired the insouciant babble of two guileless and agents. They had learned from these truthful real estate missionaries that alligators were as harmless as geese, and there were fewer snakes by far in Florida than in New York City or Philadelphia.

The professor found the one vacant seat and flung himself into it.

"Good afternoon, professor," said an acquaintance, the further end of the carried out to him; "do you have any luck catching snakes these days?"

And within five minutes Mr. Bell was answering questions from nearly every occupant of the car. Were there really any snakes in Florida?

Was it safe to go through the woods? How big did the snakes grow in this state? What sort of snakes are common here? etc. Very graciously the professor answered them all and soon had betrayed himself into a dissertation upon reptiles generally, till in an absent way, he illustrated a point.

Unbuttoned a capacious pocket in the skirt of his coat and drew out an enormous and newly caught "coach-whip," which he exhibited to a group of staring and excited people.

His habits and peculiarities were described and he laid his subject on the seat and from another pocket drew out a number of chickens of various kinds. Would they bite? No, indeed; they were harmless. They looked kind of "crawly," they were so small.

He replaced them and unstrapped his game bag. "Here we have," he said, "a beautiful snake naturally tame and perfectly harmless, which anybody can play with." And he drew out what was probably the Florida snake ever caught in Florida—nearly eight feet long.

There was a chorus of screams, and women and children, men even, fled to the further end of the car. During the rest of the trip the professor, seated alone, and when at Gainesville he arose to leave the train little girls hid themselves behind their mamma's and screamed with fright.

Learning a Trade.

It is not uncommon for a mechanic to allude to the period during which he served his apprenticeship as "the time when I was in the mill."

"I was in the mill," he said, "but how many mechanics are there who can truly say that they did learn their trade during that time? Very few. It is presumed as if a man were in the mill, he would learn it. But in my school-days as the time when he obtained his education. The man who does not learn more in a corresponding space of time following the time of study, than he did during instruction, than he did during that course, is a person of very small capabilities. The course of study, whether in books or tools, that one pursues to fit him for his profession, should be like the foundation of a house which is laid to support and strengthen the superstructure, and the more thoroughly the foundation is laid the better the superstructure will be.

As in every other walk in life, some who learn nothing and forget nothing; but they are not the persons who advance the business interests of the community. In every branch of trade styles are constantly changing and improvements making and the craftsman who is not prepared to meet and stand up to the changes, will be speedily found himself in the rear—"left."

What is termed "learning a trade" is merely a course of study that teaches one how to learn. Just as a piece of the alphabet is a key to the knowledge of the trade, alphabet is a key to all knowledge.—Budget.

Thought the Fighting Bad Begun.

One hundred anarchists were drilling in an up-town hall.

"Attention! Carry arms! Forward, march!"

"Bang! bang! ziss!"

Seventy-five men dashed for the door and tumbled over each other down stairs, ten jumped out of the third-story window, eight fainted, six fell on their knees and commenced praying, and one manly foreign substance in the ear it will come away with the cornucopia.

London Society.

The dust bath is to the foot what the wash